FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1915

This appears to be an opportune time for people who care nothing about dividends to grab off U. S. steel common at bargain counter prices.

A Sharon concern has received an order for thousands of pairs of stockings for men in the trenches in the European war, which will be made of soldiers will not get cold feet if the United States can prevent it.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature wiping out the state agricultural commission which costs $20,000 a year and provides for a board composed of practical farmers. It is not at all likely that the new board will draw any less pay.

Last Saturday afternoon Representative John J. Whitacre precipitated a hot debate in congress when he made an attack upon the Underwood tariff law, in which he charged the democrats of Ohio are unable to defend it satisfactorily. In the course of his speech he said: In Ohio they are blaming all sorts of things on our tariff law. The steel and iron manufacturers say the tariff closed the mills. I don't believe it, but I cannot stand on a street corner in Ohio and keep an empty dinner pail out of the discussion. They won't listen to any other explanation. When the pottery industry was threatening to cut wages the government sent experts to examine the books and since that examination everything has been lovely.

SALEM

Mrs. L. T. Pow and daughter, Miss Margaret, charmingly entertained a company of thirty friends one day last week at an informal luncheon.

Local sportsmen have organized to protect the quail and other game birds against the rigors of winter in the hope that the feathered beauties will increase in number next winter.

The remains of Abel Hewitt, who died in Benton Harbor, Mich., at the age of 86 years, were brought here for burial, interment being made Saturday in Grandview cemetery. Deceased long resided in this city and was widely and favorably known. He is survived by three sons and a daughter.

Just a quarter of a century ago Salem people were looking forward to the opening of the new street car line in the city. Now the old line is entirely abandoned, although the track still remains to remind us of other days.

Industries on the flats are running steadier just now than for several months. Manufacturers express the opinion that times are going to steadily improve.

As yet this city has no sky-scraping buildings, but our time will come all right.

John Hiltbrandt, a Swiss 39 years old, who was employed by W. H. Mullins & Co., has been declared insane and ordered committed to the Massillon state hospital. His condition is due to poor health.

Judge Moore issued an order enjoining Thos. Cadwallader from disposing of any of his property pending investigation of charges made by his wife in an action against him for alimony. She charges him with extreme cruelty. The couple married only a little more than a year ago.

Council will probably pass an ordinance prohibiting the use of rubber hose in connecting gas stoves.

The public installation of I. O. O. F. Encampment officers Tuesday night was largely attended.

Forty Masons from Youngstown were here Tuesday night to witness degree work by members of Ferry lodge.

Many dogs have been poisoned in the city the past week.

It is a safe rule not to give money or clothing to unknown solicitors. Men in uniform have been getting money in neighboring towns for unknown charitable institutions.

An automobile show may be held here in March.

It will please a lot of people to learn that the usual free government seeds will be distributed again this year, congress having voted Tuesday in favor of an appropriation of $200,000 for that purpose.

GEORGE GODWARD DEAD

After an illness of about two weeks with a severe cold, George Godward, aged 80 years, died at his home on the Painter road, near Salem, Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Deceased was born in Yorkshire, England, Dec. 20, 1834, and came to this country at the age of 15 years. He located in Mahoning county where he spent the greater part of his life, his home being in New Albany. For the past three years he had resided on the Painter road. He followed the vocations of coal miner, operator and farmer. He was a thoroughly good man, enjoying the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. On August 26, 1888, he was united in marriage with Catherine Eberhart, who with six sons and six daughters, survives. They are Mrs. Frank Rhodes of Greenford; Mrs. Adeline Slagle of Belmont; Mrs. L. A. Coy of North Lima; Mrs. W. H. Coy of Calla; Mrs. P. J. Sanford of Elbow Lake, Minn.; G. W. Godward of Salem, Ore.; Frank Godward of Akron; Fred Godward of Justus; Mrs. W. W. Coy, Richard, Aaron and Owen Godward of Salem. One sister, Mrs. Fred Eberhart, of Girard, also survives. Funeral services were held from the family home Thursday morning at 10:30, Rev. I. E. Miller of the M. E. Church officiating. Interment in Hope cemetery.

YOUNGSTOWN

By a friendly agreement between the creditors and leading stockholders on request of F. D. Wilkerson, a stockholder and creditor of the Youngstown & Southern Railway Co., a nineteen-mile interurban operating between this city and Leetonia a receiver was last week named for the corporation in Judge C. M. Wilkin's court. Hon. David Tod, secretary and treasurer, was made receiver. Officials of the company say this action is due to overcapitalization, for which promoters are responsible, and by a series of damage suits aggregating about $100,000. Trial of these cases is approaching. It is said that inability to create a sinking fund from earnings has allowed $130,000 of bonds to mature unpaid, while a local bank is creditor for $123,000 obtained to pay interest, floating debt and provide equipment. For this obligation $205,000 of first mortgage bonds indorsed by stockholders have been given as security. The road has $150,000 stock and $948,000 bonds outstanding. Mr. Tod says service will not be interrupted. Judge A. B. Calvin, attorney for the company, is hard at work on the task of straightening out its affairs and he declares that within a year it will be on a sound financial footing and the earning dividends for the stockholders.

Another move has been made to knock out good roads district No. 1 composed of Youngstown, Boardman, Austintown and Jackson townships. It is contended that this city pays 50 per cent of the cost of building roads in the townships named and this is not considered fair or just.

On application of Sheriff J. C. Umstead, his wife was reappointed matron of the county jail by Probate Judge J. W. Davis at her present salary of $60 a month. The appointment is effective for two years, the length of the sheriff's term in office.

Italians in this city have organized to raise funds for earthquake victims in their native land. There are many wealthy sons of Italy here who will contribute generously to the fund.

A lot of people in this city are wondering where the county experiment farm will be located. They probably feel that they should have much to say about the location for it was the city vote that carried the bond issue through. The country voted against the proposition. It is quite generally agreed, however, that the farm should be reasonably centrally located so that it will not be a hardship for farmers living in any part of the county to visit it.

Col. Joe Wess, indicted for alleged illegal voting last fall, is mad all over and declares he will make it hot for county officials he claims contributed to both Bull Moose and Republican campaign funds. Developments will be awaited with interest.

Gordon P. Cook, disbarred some years since by Judge G. F. Robinson because of his connection with the signing of a mortgage which stirred up a big row, was last week reinstated.

The grand jury after being in session 19 days and examining over 500 witnesses made its report to Judge W. P. Barnum on Tuesday. In all 115 cases were examined and 89 indictments were returned, two of which are secret. Of the indictments one is for illegal voting on Nov. 2, two for practicing medicine without a certificate, one for perjury, one for first degree murder, 25 for carrying concealed weapons, 29 for robbery or stealing and six for immorality. It is noticeable in the list of persons indicted that a large proportion are foreigners. Several colored people figure in the list. At its own request the grand jury was continued by Judge Barnum so that other cases brought to its attention could be investigated. This is the first grand jury in the history of the county to make such a request.

Many applications for relief under the mothers' pension act are being made to Judge J. W. Davis as a result of the announcement that $10,000 will be available in this county for this purpose in the 12 months following March 1. Three probation officers are now busy investigating the merits of the applications.

MCKINLEY CLUB BANQUET

The executive committee of the Mahoning Valley McKinley Club, at its meeting held last Saturday evening, completed plans for the first annual banquet to be held Saturday evening, Jan. 30, at the Hotel Ohio. A majority of the committee, representing the various Mahoning and Trumbull county towns, were present and reports given show that while tickets have been in circulation but a few days there has been a large sale. At least 150 are expected from Warren, Newton Falls, Canfield, Niles and Girard. The following speakers have been secured: Col. H. P. Bope, vice-president of the Carnegie Steel Co., Pittsburgh, will speak on the subject, "Prosperity, Past and Future." Joe Mitchell Chapple, editor of the National Magazine, who is an orator of international fame. He probably knows more famous people than any other man in the world. Mr. Chapple will speak of the late President McKinley from a personal standpoint. G. P. Giller of Warren will also give an address. Attorney Giller is an orator of note and has many friends. It is hoped the governor will accept. State Representatives, A. O. Fleming and David Helmsman of Mahoning and Lester Hake of Trumbull, together with State Senator John L. McDermott of Niles will be among the honor guests.

The banquet will be strictly informal, as to dress. The reception will begin at 6:30 eastern time and the banquet a half hour later at 7 sharp. Caranations, McKinley's favorite flower, will be in evidence on the tables. Tickets for the banquet will be $1 per plate and can be secured from any member of the executive committee, Dr. H. T. Hawkins, Canfield.

Gov. Frank B. Willis has been forwarded a special invitation to be present as one of the honor guests. It is hoped the governor will accept. State Representatives, A. O. Fleming and David Helmsman of Mahoning and Lester Hake of Trumbull, together with State Senator John L. McDermott of Niles will be among the honor guests.
